

Our Wine Cellar has an extensive array of excellent quality & carefully chosen Cypriot & imported wines. The wines listed were individually selected because of their quality and value to you. This follows the commitment to excellence that we set for ourselves when we originally opened our restaurant in 1991.

These wines were chosen to complement our food and to enhance your dining experience.

Make sure to ask about any new additions that might add just the right touch to your culinary experience here at The Hill View Restaurant!

Please feel free to enter our cellar, browse & select your own wine

All wines in our Cava are available for restaurant consumption or can be purchased to take away... a good choice for a nice gift from Cyprus.

Selected Cyprus White Wines

Xinisteri (Local Variety)

Xynisteri is the most wide-spread white grape variety in the Cypriot vineyard. The vinification of grapes from selected regions at low temperatures produces fresh, light-colored, aromatic wines with medium alcohol levels, which are not usually amenable to ageing and must be drunk when young.

Vasilikon Winery- Kathikas, Pafos (1)

KTHMA KEO €29.50

Keo Winery-Mallia, Limassol (4)

Mourvèdre (Mataró)

Mourvèdre tends to produce tannic wines that can be high in alcohol. according to wine expert Jancis Robinson Mourvèdre wines often have wild game and/or earthy notes to them, with soft red fruit flavors. Young Mourvèdre can come across as faulted due to the reductive, sulfur notes and "farmyard-y" flavors that some wines can exhibit before those flavors mellow with age.

Tsangarides “organic” €26.90

Tsangarides Winery- Lemona, Pafos (2)

A complex bouquet of spice with raspberry, plum & caramel. Warm, subtle and well balanced. Very smooth not too tannic, with a rich and fruity aftertaste.

Argyrides “mourvedre” €26.90

Argyrides Winery- Vasa Kilaniou (4)

Great aroma and taste, strong body, smooth tannins and balance in the mouth.

The island's longstanding tradition of winemaking needs no further proof than its claim to have the world's oldest named wine still in production – that of Commandaria. Proclaimed by Richard the Lionheart to be “the wine of kings, and the king of wines”. Whilst the same ancient grape varieties are still cultivated; and the same villages produce wine in the old traditional ways, the island's wine industry has also vastly modernised, progressed and expanded. Whether you're a connoisseur, or a simple lover of the drink that locals once worshipped as the 'nectar of the Gods', you will delight in discovering a host of charming wineries and wine growing regions along seven glorious wine routes. From the high, sun-kissed southern slopes of the Troodos mountain range, to a stunning stretch between Lemesos and Pafos, and also the rural areas of Larnaka and Lefkosia...

Please note that all of the wines are numbered according to which region they come from. Please ask for a free copy of the “Cyprus wine routes” booklet.
